5. Description of physical appearance:

1115, 1117, 1119 Hunter Street are contiguous two-story carriage houses located in the Mt. Vernon Historic District. The brick structures were designed in the prevailing Italianate manner of the area, and are characterized by the flat roofs and brick cornices which adorn them. The first floor consists of an entry door and garage-type doors as the openings. The second floor openings consist of hay loft doors and two windows. The interior spaces are typical of the genre, and are composed of unfinished loft spaces.

Date of Construction: ca. 1890 Source of Date: Baltimore City Land Records

Date(s) of Alteration(s): _____

Has building been moved? ☐ yes ☒ no. If so, when? _____

Statement of significance:

The carriage house provided utilitarian shelter for the horses and carriages, and later, the automobiles, of the residents of in-town domiciles. As the townhouse provided answers for the increasing demands for housing in the city, so the carriage house of this type, provided the support system. These carriage houses later helped house the integral support services of the neighborhood - the garages, workshops, etc., which formed a basis for neighborhood order and stability.
